

Divine Mercy Sunday
April 16th 2023

Both a copy machine mishap and another computer glitch coincided to make a full bulletin this weekend impossible. Please accept our apologies. Here are some of the weekend highlights in this “mini” version.

The Readings:

The resurrection’s transforming power is apparent in today’s readings. In the gospel, the terrified apostles are changed when Jesus enters the room where they are hiding. Jesus’ greeting: “Peace be with you” communicates God’s infinite mercy. Jesus goes even further by extending the gift of the Holy Spirit to His disciples. The Spirit’s power of forgiveness transforms their lives and ours.

Announcements:

- Our Mass intention schedule is wide open over the next few months. Please call or stop by the office to have a Mass said for a beloved deceased family member or special intention.
- Our church carpet was steam-cleaned this week; this is one of the many tasks for which our monthly second collections are taken.
- We wish to thank all the selfless volunteers who made our Holy week and Easter liturgies so very meaningful.
- We will be receiving a very short update on our AMA progress after all masses this weekend.

“Blessed are those who have not seen and yet still believe”

Your priest,
Fr. Jhonnatan, Pastor
